Changing Water to Gold.
$10,000,000 for Children.
Moscow Homes.
Old Deer Forests.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

AN ANCIENT miracle turned water into wine.

A modern miracle turns water into gold.

When the late J. P. Morgan bought out Carnegie's iron works, bonds were issued plentifully, also millions of preferred stock and $500,000,000 of common stock.

CARNEGIE said the stock was "pure air" and the bonds were water.

Now United States Steel calls in $134,000,000 worth of the "water" bonds and pays the holder $115 for each $100 bond.

SENATOR COUZENS, of Michigan, gives $10,000,000 for the benefit of children, their health and education. All the money must be spent in 25 years.

Noble impulse, most generous action. The sum represents a third of Senator Couzens' fortune.

THE question is, how can you, on a big scale, help children on whom the national welfare depends?

Teach the parents? That is not easy.

Increase the fathers' incomes? That helps children directly.

Arouse ambition in children? Progress comes from within.

Improve the public schools? The last is most important.

PRACTICAL America remembers that Mr. Couzens' 30 odd millions came in cash from a few hundreds invested in Henry Ford's company, when it started.

The problem is to find another Henry Ford, just starting.

OWNERS of homes in Moscow with incomes above $1,500 a year will be evicted. Working people will have their houses.

That seems atrocious. It is time's pendulum swinging back and forth.

NOT many years ago thousands of small farmers in Britain were driven from houses and lands to create deer forests, waste spaces, where king and nobles might hunt the deer.

NORODY made a fuss about the deer forests. And when the czars were sending thousands to die in Siberian mines, or to die more quickly under

In upstate New York on the outskirts of Rochester, the Genesee river overflowed its banks with the consequent marooning of more than 50 families and property damage running into the thousands.

Conditions in the Susquehanna river valley, both in New York and Pennsylvania, likewise were reported bad.

Letters To The Editor

Wellsville Mayor Lauds Hospital.
Mayor Wallace L. Fogo, Wellsville, who spent something like 10 weeks as a patient in the City hospital here as a result of injuries sustained while assisting Wellsville firemen at a blaze early in January, regards the local institution as one of the most efficient establishments of its kind that he has ever known.

He says in a communication to The Review:

"During my 10 weeks' confinement in the hospital there was never once that I could offer the slightest complaint on the treatment and attention received. Had I been a millionaire and in the highest priced hospital in the country, it would not have been possible to receive any more courteous and efficient service than was rendered me at East Liverpool.

"During my stay I was in a position to observe that all patients were according the same treatment and I am satisfied that no hospital could boast of a more efficient corps of attending physicians and nurses.

"If any one is so unfortunate that it is necessary for him to be confined to a hospital, he should not hesitate in entering the East Liverpool City hospital.

"This hospital is well equipped for the needs of our surrounding communities and by its presence relieves us of the necessity of taking the sick to some distant city where they are out of touch and not so easily accessible to their friends and relatives. If it should again be my lot to need the services of a hospital, it most certainly will be the East Liverpool City hospital for first choice.

A buying guide

BEFORE you order dinner at a restaurant, you consult the bill-of-fare. Before you take a long trip by motor-car, you pore over road maps. Before you start out on a shopping trip, you should consult the advertisements in this paper. For the same reasons!

The advertising columns are a buying guide to you in the purchase of everything you need—including amusements! A guide that saves your time and conserves your energy; that saves useless steps and guards against false ones; that puts the s-t-r-e-t-c-h in family budgets.

The advertisements in this paper are so interesting, it is difficult to see how anyone could overlook them... fail to profit by them. Just check with yourself and be sure that you are reading the advertisements regularly—the big ones and the little ones. It is time well spent... always!

Roads Too Narrow?

Notwithstanding legislation increasing speed limits on city streets as well as rural highways, agitation for laws against slow drivers whose actions do not permit a free flow of traffic, and the stressing of "safety first" by civic, state and national organizations, at least ten lives were exacted and many others persons were injured in automobile accidents in Ohio over the weekend.

Seven persons were killed and another probably fatally injured near Steubenville, when a motor car plunged down a 100-foot embankment after being crowded off the road. Fatal accidents were also reported in Canton, Zanesville and Toledo.

Perhaps Ohio, as an automobile owners' organization in Pennsylvania suggests in reference to the Keystone state, has outgrown the two-lane highway.

The president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation says that the two-lane highway is too narrow for traffic. As he points out, the steady increase in the number of motor vehicles and the rapid strides in power, speed and safety manufacturers are building into the car of today will demand a solution of the problem of wider roads. Statistics are cited to prove that the accident rate decreases on wider highways.

However, road building is an expensive proposition, and many states do not have money enough to complete a two-lane highway system. So it is probably too early to talk about wider arteries of transportation. Until wider roads are built, it will pay motorists to practice rules of courtesy as well as common sense safety regulations in driving.

War's Aftermath

After the tumult and the shouting of war comes the retribution. The medals of honor, the heroes, the hectic moments of hand to hand battles in the World war are rapidly becoming memories and, in a few years will only be heard of in the legends that will grow out of the war. Fortunately for the world, legends are somewhat out of style.

The war will be remembered, however. It will be acutely remembered for several generations by the children and the grandchildren of the men who started it, fought it and terminated it. A sum of twenty-four billion dollars has been proposed as the reparation that Germany must pay. Approximately four-fifths of this sum will be due within the next thirty-seven years and the remainder in the following twenty-one years. The children will pay for the mistakes of their fathers.

It is most interesting to note that this sum is $1,600,000,000 less than the original offer made by Germany at the Versailles peace conference, but only one-fifth of the amount asked by the allies before the conference opened. If it were billions of dollars less, it would represent a burden almost beyond the power of hope to overcome.

Right or wrong, it is a penalty which the world is forced to demand. If it were possible for a nation to indulge in war without fear of penalization, war would be the popular thing. But, war exacts penalties from both victors and losers. Both suffer internal disruption, both spend money. It is a victor's privilege to dictate in what way the loser shall make retribution.

An appreciation of the burden of a vast war debt is one of the most effective appeals to outlaw war. It is a more tangible argument than an appeal to idealism because it represents money. The children and grandchildren of the war lords of the German Empire will be a living lesson. Future American war enthusiasts will benefit by a scrutiny of the money that was sacrificed to Mars in their own country in paid and unpaid war debts, at home and abroad. Every world power is in the same boat, so to speak, but only one or two hold the positions of power at the oars.

"Outlaw war!" is the cry heard around the world. Idealists approach it fanatically, materialists regard it skeptically, militarists scrutinize it philosophically. It is quite sure that it can be done. The majority hopes that some way can be found to make future wars impossible, but no positive way has been found. The most effective argument, in this era of efficiency, is the realization of the waste which war causes. Although it is unfortunate that Germany has to be the example, she will make a very effective object lesson for future use.

A Common Sense Move

Shipping crude rubber from Brazil to the United States for tire and tube manufacturers which will be shipped back to Brazil seems a very wasteful arrangement. Rubber companies have been doing that very thing, however, for a number of years.

Increasing consumption of rubber products by South American interests and the growing use of motor cars made possible by good road programs have made this industrial trip around Robin Hood's barn, an expensive mistake. Consequently, a rubber factory has been constructed at the mouth of the Amazon to supply South American trade. The site of the factory, Belem, is a city of 236,000 people and is an ideal location for the new South American manufacturing center. Coastal steamers operating down Brazil's 5,000 miles of coastline will make immediate contact with the sources of supply and demand.

Establishment of factories adjacent to demand will be of mutual benefit. In the case of tires and tubes, it will enable the consumers to buy at lower costs and will increase the manufacturer's output. Another less tangible benefit is the one which will be derived from eventual respect for pioneer industry.

South America is a gold mine for industry and development, whose possibilities have scarcely been scratched. Its proximity to the North American continent will cause it to be an ever more attractive field for United States industry.

World possibilities aren't a closed book yet, by any means. South America, Africa, Australia, vast expanses in Asia still await the magic touch of modern industrialism and commerce. Civilization is just beginning.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23.—There is a serious lack of authentic information on one of the most important subjects affecting our national life, the subject of the incidence of unemployment, and the committee on governmental labor statistics of the American Statistical association has sent to President Hoover a recommendation that steps be taken to employ the machinery of the fifteen census to supply the lack.

National welfare is wholly dependent on widespread employment under existing sociological conditions. Unless the people are generally employed, hard times speedily overtake the nation. For even a fraction of the people to be out of work means a decline in purchasing power. This, in turn, means a decline in purchasing power because the demand for the goods they make decreases. Further unemployment naturally follows and then panic and general depression.

Many efforts have been made to ascertain the extent of unemployment at different times but, as the committee flatly says in its communication to President Hoover, nothing better than guesses ever have been made. In emphasizing this situation, the committee points out that in response to a senate resolution, Secretary of Labor Davis reported that the unemployed last year numbered 1,875,000. Estimates made by other competent statisticians were from two to three million above the secretary's figure. No one knows which one is right or whether any of them even approaches the truth.

The importance of having the information lies in the need of employers to plan their programs to fit available labor supply and operative purchasing power. Welfare organizations also want the data to enable them to plan for periods of hardship which must be met.

Every ten years the United States government takes a complete census of its people and the committee wants the president to urge upon congress at the special session just starting the authorization of gathering of added census material directly concerning unemployment. Without such action by congress the information can not be obtained.

Specifically, the committee wants each census enumerator authorized to ask every person counted if he or she is ordinarily employed and, if so, on that day he has a job. Merely the simple answer "yes" or "no" is all that is sought. The enumerator will not be inquisitive as to why a worker is out of a job. However, in view of the fact that there are many jobs of a seasonal character such as coal mining, some branches of construction, lumbering, certain railroad work, and so on, the enumerator will further ask if the worker is definitely out of work or merely on temporary lay-off.

Then, too, the enumerator will list the type of work in which the person is engaged or, if on lay-off, is ordinarily engaged. These figures will show in what trades, professions, and industries there is full or scant employment and the full information will give an accurate cross section of the situation on the day it is gathered.

One difficulty which arises in connection with obtaining unemployment data through the census, is the date on which the enumeration is made. The law now provides, as it has for a long time, that the census shall be taken on the first day of the decade. This would make the next census day January 1, 1930. Because of weather difficulties making the house to house canvass difficult, especially in rural districts, there has been strong agitation in favor of a change in the census date. It has been proposed that the enumeration be made on April 1, 1930, and a bill has been introduced in congress to this effect. However, the census Bureau itself holds the view that November 1, 1929, would be a better day and an effort is to be made to get the special session of congress to authorize this date.

But it will make a lot of difference on which date the unemployment figures are gathered. Should the census date remain unchanged and the enumeration be made on January 1, a much greater volume of unemployment will be noted. In midwinter there is no farm work to speak of, many lines of construction and much railroad work are at a standstill. The cities are normally crowded with men out of work. On April 1, both building and farm work are in full swing, but coal mining and lumbering have declined. On November 1, the harvest over most of the country is home and the hands are out of work. Nevertheless, either the spring or the fall date is regarded as a truer reflection of the amount of employment than the mid-winter date.

Congress must act if this information is to be available. Moreover, it must make an appropriation to cover the cost. It might seem that there would be no extra expense in the asking of two or three more questions and the jotting down of the answers inasmuch as the enumerator has to interview each person anyway. But the cost will run into many thousands of dollars. Each answer must be tabulated in its proper category. Merely to list property each "yes" and each "no" involves millions of operations.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Rich men can no longer be judged by antedated standards of their heredit. The town house, country estate, a box at the opera, a shooting lodge and string of polo ponies used to mark the millionaire. But that is "old stuff" in America's unprecedented prosperity.

The splurge of the rich is now expressed in personal and private comfort rather than in outward show. Display is the symbol of the nouveau riche, and even the new rich are conscious of finger pointers. Wealth still feeds its vanity, but without brass bands and fireworks.

One of the busy millionaires maintains a four-room apartment under another name at a smart hotel, and uses it about an hour or so a week, merely for a haircut and massage, and while undergoing these ministrations receives intimate business associates and dictates to a brace of stenographers.

A San Francisco capitalist brings his barber on trips to New York and is registered under the barber's name to avoid interviews. Nearly every millionaire traveling abroad these days takes as part of his entourage a physical, masseur, and private secretaries, and is not listed among ship passengers.

There are any number of apartments on Park and Madison avenue and other exclusive areas maintained by yearly rentals of from $20,000 to $50,000 and used by out-of-town visitors on sporadic visits. They are unlisted in the house directory and attendants will appear oblivious of their occupancy.

One of the unique establishments in town is a magnificent private house in the East Sixties. Its cellars are stocked with rarest vintages and walls are hung with tapestried treasures and works of old masters. A housekeeper and 14 servants are employed.

The gentleman who owns it is a middlewesterner and maintains the pied a terre the year around merely to entertain dinner parties for six weeks during the opera season. He has another town house with more sombre attentuations where he resides, and where social high jinks are tabooed during his sojourn.

London was once the old clothes center of the world but today it is Brooklyn. The Rush Terminal maintains a sterilization plant there from which discarded garments are shipped to every corner of the globe. The old coat of today may adorn the Moroccan chieft or the Siberian mountaineer tomorrow. Europe has a shortage of old clothes because everybody is wearing them out. Few Americans wear them out. Old derbies are especially in demand to ship to Africa to decorate craniums of tribal chiefs. Top hats and cutaway coats without pants—they do not care for pants—also make an appeal among uncivilized. The Cash Clo men now pay the highest prices in history and are sharing largely in the prosperity.

Those silver-haired ladies with such an aura of dignity serving as floor clerks in fashionable hotels have a background for their aristocratic manner. They are recruited largely from the army of widows who have met financial reverses and are forced to make their way. The Waldorf had one clerk who once maintained a $30,000 a year apartment on the same floor over which she presided. In adversity she sought solace amid scenes of happier days.

An agonized matron writes to a New York newspaper a butler sixteen years in service has made away with rare wines costing $14,000 in prewar days, gives big dinner parties while she is in Europe, and refuses flatly to air her pet dog and she wonders what to do. A fellow like that should be sent away without even a character.

And another newspaper reader—you can have more fixings reading those letters to editors—thinks one of the tragedies of the metropolis is the sight of the spindly-legged tenement children to whom the live cow in the Central Park meadow is such an object of astonishing curiosity. From the taste of my milk at lunch today, there is at least one dairyman who would be similarly affected by the sight of a cow.

A New York hatter says he can tell a man's chief characteristics by the way he wears his hat and that recalls how the Elite Broadway Players' comedian convulsed Plattsburg, Mo., in the late 90's with: "Grandpa is in the barnyard with the cattle. You can tell him by his hat!"

The Chimneyless House.

What will be accomplished in the time saved when it is no longer necessary for the head of the household to put coal into the furnace and carry out the ashes? Will the result be increased production of goods or a bigger demand for golf courses?

Years ago Dr. Steimetz predicted that one day we should have houses without chimneys. One of the great electrical companies announces that it has made trial of an electrical heating system in homes in several districts and predicts that shortly costs will be within the reach of average homeowners.

The advantages, beyond the fact that warmth is to be had by pressing a button, lie in the absence of all fire, smoke, gases or odors; freedom from the soil and grime of soot and ashes, and in the absence of combustion in vitiating the air. Such a fulfillment of promise looks away beyond the exhaustion of mines and forests, for so long as rain falls and rivers run the production of electricity will be possible.—Detroit News.

COHENS, KELLYS COMEDY TRIUMPH

"The Cohens and Kellys in Atlantic City," Universal's latest picture revealing the adventures of the Cohen and Kelly families, and the first to be made as a talking picture, was launched last night at State theater on a sea of laughs. Mr. Cohen and Mr. Kelly are undoubtedly the greatest comedy team ever invented by a film studio, as their comic arguments, their family squabbles and all the other incidents that characterize them, seem to grow funnier with each celluloid edition. The Talk films seem to have been especially developed for this type of screen comedy.

Highlights of the picture are: "The Dummy" is, first of all, a comedy and the ruse by which the "deaf and dumb" office boy gets his job in the detective's office is an uproariously funny one.

Mickey Bennett does some excellent pantomime as the deaf and dumb boy trying to be kidnapped by the desperate gang.

son and Anne Foreman; woodgathering, Maurice High, Donald Rich, Clifford Forse, George Palmer, Michael Vinich, Eric Simoni and Misses Helen McGogney and Margaret McGogney.

The county commissioners and judges will be honorary members of the board of directors. The work of the society is to secure homes for orphan children. A full time worker will be employed. An office will probably be opened in the Beaver County Children's home, New Brighton.

The committee includes: Mrs. P. A. Fersler, Midland; Rev. M. S. Ashton, New Brighton; Mrs. L. L. Bentley, Patterson Heights; Mrs. R. W. Steebner, Ambridge; W. T. Weaver, Beaver Falls; H. R. Vandessie, Aliquippa; Mrs. J. R. Barrett, Brighton township; and Mrs. George Gladek, Patterson Heights.

Sharp voices, hysterical cries, the bark of a revolver and the thuds of falling bodies furnish real hot melodramatic situations as the clever office boy gets the drop on the gang in the mountain cabin.

Richard Barthelmess again! Again in a hit—one of the biggest in his career of hits. The First National star who gave us "The Patent Leather Kid" and "The Noose," made his appearance on the screen last night at the American theater in "Weary River," which proved an unqualified hit with last night's audience.

"Weary River" has given Barthelmess an unusual role to play. He has been given an exceptionally dramatic story to tell, a real, living, breathing character to portray, and situations brimming with extraordinary histrionic opportunities. And he takes full advantage of every one of them.

"Weary River" is the story of a man who was framed, sent to prison, disillusioned, inspired, finding himself in song and music, winning fame, fortune and love via the radio. It is strictly modern, teeming with action and movement and altogether designed as a great picture.

SUFFERED EVERY SPRING FOR TWENTY YEARS

"I used to dread the coming of Spring," said Mr. A. Dray, E. Liverpool, Ohio, a man fifty years old, while talking with the World's Tonic lecturer. "Somewhere when Nature began to brighten things up, I got dull and listless. My appetite was poor, I was cold and just wanted to loaf around the fire or in the warm sun every Spring. 'People used to talk about Spring fever. Guess I must have had it. But one night I heard the World's Tonic lecturer explain why I felt that way. He said the rich heavy food we ate in the winter, the way we lived indoors, and our lack of exercise made our body sluggish. Often he said, that sluggishness resulted in catarrhal conditions. Then our whole body was poisoned by waste matter we didn't throw off, and the blood was thick with impurities. That set me thinking, and I realized he was describing my case. I took a bottle of World's Tonic and its effect was wonderful. It wasn't a week before I began to feel better. My catarrh was cleared up and my constipation was over as my bowels worked naturally. My kidneys and bladder are now throwing off the poisons. My rheumatism has left me and I began to feel full of energy. In two weeks I was kind of a new man. That's what ails a lot of us. Instead of being Spring that hurts us, it's the load of impurities we carry over from the Winter. Now a bottle or two of World's Tonic makes me feel like a new man every Spring. World's Tonic is sold by druggists, also C. M. Brannan's at Wellsville, and all other reliable druggists. (A-157)—Ad."

"Orange Root" Mother Nature's Super-Prescription Selling Like Wild-Fire Here

Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Grateful Users Daily Reporting Astonishing Results to Mr. H. E. Kauf, the Orange Root Man at Mathews Original Cut Rate Medicine Store.

Mr. O. C. Holland Triumphs Over Terrible Case of Stomach Trouble Which Baffled Even Specialists — Almost to Weak to Get Around, Says ORANGE ROOT Quickly Rid Him of All His Miseries and Restored Him to Health.

From one end of East Liverpool to the other, "ORANGE ROOT" is the paramount topic of the day. Never in the history of proprietary medicine has anything equalled the sales of "ORANGE ROOT" Iron and Celery Compound in this city. Hundreds of weak, rundown, underweight, rheumatic and dyspeptic men, women and children of this city have found "ORANGE ROOT" a boon to HEALTH and HAPPINESS. Mr. O. C. Holland, of Route No. 2, Flushing, Ohio, near East Liverpool, having been slowly but surely falling in health due to a baffling case of stomach trouble and general debility, decided to take a treatment of ORANGE ROOT as a last resort, and here is what this good man says:

"I have been falling in health for the past 2 years due to a terrible mystery stomach trouble, which even the best specialists in the country failed to relieve. My suffering caused me untold misery and slowly but surely I was sapping what little vitality I had left. Everything I ate soured, or fermented on my stomach and caused dreadful gas pains thru-out my whole system. When the pains got in the region of my heart, it scared me almost to death. I was completely devoid of strength, and just dragged about like one half dead. Even the odor of food bothered me, until I did not dare go near the kitchen. Hearing so much about this ORANGE ROOT from friends who had taken it with wonderful results, I decided that here at last was something my system sorely needed, so I bought a treatment of it and a box of the golden liver Nuggets, and took it faithfully as directed. To my utter surprise and delight, I BEGAN TO IMPROVE IMMEDIATELY. I noticed my strength coming back, my appetite sharpened, and a feeling of exhilaration creeping all over my body. Gone at once, just like magic, were all those distressing gas pains. My nerves became quiet and calm, and I noticed that what I ate seemed to agree with me, and all feeling of nausea left me entirely at meal times. That tired, draggy feeling also disappeared, and I can sleep like a log at night and get up in the mornings feeling peppy as a two-year old. Indeed, I can't say too much for these great Orange Root remedies for they surely did put me on my feet again. The golden Nuggets have rid me entirely of constipation and sluggish liver. NEW THINGS OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

"My China Sparkles Like Jewels"

"my hands look like strangers to the dishpan"

A Simpler Way to Wash Dishes

SPARKLING glass and gleaming china are as much a mark of social knowledge as good manners.

To have them—impeccable and flawless—and, at the same time for the housewife to have caressing, white hands is a problem that has now been solved an interesting, new way.

Use any kind of soap, soap powder or soap flakes, in washing dishes. But add a teaspoon of CLIMALENE to the water.

This enables you to use ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity of soap. For it softens the water instantly so that far less soap is needed.

Being a GREASE SOLVENT in itself, it DISSOLVES grease instantly; and eliminates ALL FILM or scum from glassware. Makes it sparkle like rare jewels.

Containing superlative SKIN WHITENING and SKIN SOFTENING ingredients—used by scores of beauty specialists—it leaves the hands soft and lovely beyond words.

Women are flocking to it. It costs only a dime at grocers. Try it. Just ask for Climalene.

MRS. KATHERINE NEMENS.

"Stomach trouble and nervousness just about made a wreck of me in five years, and to be well again gives me more joy than I can describe," said Mrs. Katherine Nemens, 283 Hollywood Boulevard, Youngstown. "The lightest foods caused gas, bloating and general misery. I could not sleep at night, I was so nervous, and sat up most every night reading, knowing that pain and suffering were sure and certain if I laid down. The smallest noises irritated me, and my general health was running low. After meals the gas pressure was so severe that I felt like my heart would stop any minute."

"I read, day after day, of Konjola's remarkable achievements and decided to give it a trial. Today my nerves are as strong as steel. Every sign of indigestion has disappeared. I can eat and sleep like a normal, healthy person. A change like this, it seems to me, is little less than a miracle. Konjola will always have a place in my home."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool at Carnahan's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

WELLSVILLE, O., April 23.—James J. Novack, Charleroi, Pa., indicted by the April grand jury on a charge of child stealing, was arraigned yesterday in common pleas court before Judge W. F. Lones and given a suspended sentence of one to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary. Novack pleaded guilty.

This is the first suspended sentence pronounced by Judge W. F. Lones since he went on the bench. It was explained to the court that Novack, who was divorced from his wife, did not know that his former wife, who is now remarried, had been granted exclusive custody of the child, James Novack, 6.

Novack came to Wellsville, placed the child in an automobile and took him to Charleroi. He explained that he had intended to keep the child over the Easter season, returning him the following Monday to the mother, now Mrs. Roland Henthorne.

The sentence was suspended by the court on the condition that the defendant refrain hereafter from interfering with the child.

Reply to Superintendent's Spring Questionnaire.

Approximately 53 of the 56 teachers now holding position, on the various public staffs here will return to their old jobs next year, according to their own declarations contained in answers to a questionnaire from the office of Superintendent S. E. Daw.

This questionnaire is sent out by the superintendent each spring. It seeks information particularly as to the teacher's professional training and general fitness, but serves also, at the same time, to provide school authorities with an idea as to the number of vacancies to be filled on the succeeding year.

In the questionnaire teachers are asked to submit a statement of training, certification, professional reading of both books and magazines, membership in teachers' associations as well as their choice of return next year.

The reports for the present season have just been returned to the office and a summary of the questionnaire answers, announces Superintendent Daw, indicates a progressive spirit on the part of the local instructors.

Of the 56 instructors in the system, 41 possess standard training, which consists of four years of professional training for the high school and two years for the elementary schools.

Forty teachers hold state certificates; 48 have subscribed to two or more professional books; and all are members of the Ohio State Teachers' association and the Eastern Ohio Teachers' association.

PICTURE PATTERN

SLIM HIPS
THE STYLE No. 3383 is a chic little printed silk crepe in a rather splashy pattern in bright red tones on a white ground that the modistes decree so utterly fashionable for immediate wear beneath the fur wrap. It's an exceptionally slender model for the jabot full of bodice, and a set-in shirred flounce of skirt, gives it decided length. The diagonal neckline is smart and comfortable. Later it can be worn to complete ensemble with navy blue silk coat, or sheer tweed in bright red.

THE PATTERN is most interesting to use with its Picture Lessons in dressmaking, showing every minute detail; just how each part is joined. You'll be delighted with this easy method of sewing. It is designed in sizes 1, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

In ordering pattern clip the design shown or order by number, and be sure to specify the size you want. Write your name and address plainly, enclosing 15 cents and mail to Fashion Department, East Liverpool Review. From 7 to 10 days are required for delivery of patterns.

VIKING

Ninety Degree V-type Eight

INTRODUCES New Qualities of Performance -- New Tailored Smartness -- New Luxury and Comfort to the Medium Price Field --

The Viking engine embodies distinctly new and desirable principles of engineering design

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

THE VIKING, an entirely new car—a product of General Motors, built by Oldsmobile—brings to the medium-price field the advantages of ninety-degree, V-type, eight-cylinder design.

Never before has any medium-priced car offered more completely balanced performance—more brilliant styling—more luxurious comfort. Never has there been a more significant event in automotive history than the introduction of the new Viking.

Viking performance is the result of the ninety-degree, V-type principle—characteristic of high-priced cars—brought to a new high stage of development by the introduction of new engineering advancements based on well-established time-proven fundamentals.

This new engine delivers 81 horsepower, with exceptional smoothness throughout its entire speed range. Its response to the throttle is remarkable in all gears. Its top speed is more than ample for any emergency. And it provides a mighty power reserve for steep hills, long grades, and hard pulling.

An advancement that makes possible many of the new features of the Viking is the integral casting of the cylinder block and crankcase in one unit. This results in greater rigidity, easier accessibility, a new and highly efficient valve arrangement, and advanced cooling and lubrication.

The natural compactness of the Viking engine... the ribbing and trussing of the crankcase—the short, rigid crankshaft, which is counter-weighted for maximum balance—large, oversize bearings—and special shock-absorbing rubber engine mountings... assures exceptional smoothness, quietness, and long life.

Another important advancement in automotive engineering practice is the new Viking valve arrangement, which combines the fuel efficiency of the overhead location of valves with the quietness, simplicity, and rigidity of side-valve design.

The Viking engine is more accessible than the conventional automobile engine. For example, the valve mechanism may be easily reached by lifting the two horizontal cover plates located on top of the engine.

Fuel distribution is based on the down-draft principle. A new type of manifold takes the incoming fuel vapor always downward, after it leaves the carburetor—an equal distance to each cylinder.

In the new Viking lubricating system, all main, connecting rod, camshaft, and rocker arm bearings are pressure-lubricated—as are the piston pins—through rifle-drilled connecting rods. Oil dilution is prevented by crankcase ventilation. Injurious foreign matter is removed by the new Viking precipitating-trap system of oil cleaning.

Cooling is also exceptionally efficient. Equal manifold distribution of the water in the twin blocks, with graduated outlets direct to points of greatest heat, assures uniform, efficient cooling of the entire engine. Cylinder walls, valves, valve stem guides, and combustion chambers are water-jacketed. There is an engine temperature gauge on the dash, and thermostatically-controlled radiator shutters are standard equipment.

And the great Viking ninety-degree, V-type, eight-cylinder engine is mounted in a great chassis—a chassis that is truly noteworthy for its strength and balance.

The strong, rigid frame is built of heavy steel reinforced by five stout cross-members. It tapers to the front to permit a short turning radius and is low-slung to provide a low center of gravity.

The wheelbase of the new Viking is 125 inches. It is equipped with oversize mechanical four-wheel brakes of the new two-shoe internal-expanding type. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, synchronized with the spring action, assure restful riding comfort.

The bodies of the new Viking are the smartest, latest style creations of Fisher artist-engineers. In designing the Viking, they sought distinction along the most difficult path—the achievement of beauty and grace through simplicity. The result justifies their diligence, for the new Viking takes its place among the smartest of cars, regardless of price.

In keeping with their beauty, the Viking bodies are luxuriously furnished. There is plenty of head room and leg room. Seats are deep-cushioned, and incline at just the right angle to provide arm-chair comfort. Upholsteries and appointments are rich in quality and tasteful in design.

For the driver's comfort and convenience, both steering wheel and front seat are adjustable, making the driving position a matter of individual choice. All controls are easy to reach and to operate. Dash instruments are grouped under glass on a handsome, directly or indirectly lighted panel.

Because it provides, at a medium price, qualities of advanced design, beauty, luxury, performance, and stamina heretofore found only in costly cars, the Viking is a value leader.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Viking delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

The new Viking is now on display. Come and see it. Inspect it closely. Take it for a trial drive. Compare it critically with other cars. You can come to only one conclusion—that the new Viking offers a combination of appearance, performance, and value unsurpassed by any other car.

City Baseball Loop To Concentrate Talent Among Four Clubs

East End Entry Decides To Release Its Players

Lack of Pilot to Take Hold of Squad Prompts Billiards to Withdraw; Action Will Relieve Pitching Problem.

CITY INDUSTRIAL BASEBALL LEAGUE managers today were discussing the withdrawal of the Madison Billiards' entry from the circuit, leaving a four-club loop. While the custom has been at least a six or an eight club circuit in former years, consensus of opinion among the local pilots is that the concentration of talent will produce better baseball.

Two Famous College Coaches Will "Teach" at Springfield

Knut Rockne, Notre Dame, and Dr. Walter Meanwell, Wisconsin, To Conduct Coaching School June 17-29.

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 23.—Knut Rockne of Notre Dame and Dr. Walter E. Meanwell of Wisconsin who will jointly conduct a coaching school at Wittenberg College, June 17-29, enjoy reputations as teachers of major sports that are justified by an ability to produce winning teams season after season.

So famous are these two that even after they have gone from their spheres of collegiate sport they will be held in the memories of men as the terrible names of Tamerlane and Genghis Khan.

Rockne who attended Notre Dame as a student and who was graduated in 1914, became director of athletics there in 1917, and football coach and track coach. Since that time, Rockne's football teams have won 92 games, lost 13 and tied six, which makes a batting average of .900, which is some batting average.

Someone says that Rockne could lose nearly all of his games over a period of ten years, playing 10 games each season, and he'd still have won better than half his contests. Figure that out at leisure; of course, it will not happen!

During the Rockne regime, Notre Dame has won 13 of 21 grid encounters, with Big Ten opponents, losing once to Wisconsin and once to Iowa.

In the lucky seventh year after taking charge at Notre Dame, Rockne coached the team that won the national championship, the same that boasted the Four Horsemen, Stuhldreher, Layden, Crowley and Miller, and the Seven Lutes of the line. Previous to that famous team of 1924 were the teams of 1919 and 1920 that played strenuous schedules and were undefeated and untied.

Dr. Meanwell is the originator of the pivot and short pass, five man defence style of play, which in its variations is a basis for most of the present day basketball game. Among many creations of his inventive mind is the summer coaching school of two weeks' intensive two-sport training, which has become immensely popular with young and old coaches in the country. The first one was held in 1924 at Superior, Wis.

To get back to figures which tell how successful is Meanwell in the matter of winning games, his record at Wisconsin is an astonishing. All of these figures include the season of 1927-28 and do not include the season about to be completed. In the Western Conference Meanwell's teams won seven championships in

Jimmy Skidmore, popular high school athlete, who has been virtually bedfast since last fall, after the football season, will be the beneficiary of a card party to be held tomorrow afternoon in the Elks' temple under auspices of the Women's unit of the East Liverpool Athletic association.

RAJAH'S HOMER 7TH HIT IN ROW

CHICAGO, April 23.—With a record of having reached first base nine consecutive times—two walks and seven straight hits—Rogers Hornsby of the Chicago Cubs today boasted a batting average for the season to date of .562.

Hornsby climaxed his sensational stride yesterday with a home run for his seventh consecutive hit. It was off the delivery of Grover Alexander of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The blow helped the Cubs score their second successive shutout of the National league champions.

WALKER-HUDKINS BOUT ON ROCKS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 23.—The proposed bout between Mickey Walker, title holder, and Ace Hudkins for the middleweight championship went on the rocks here today when Jack Doyle, promoter, declined a guarantee for the champion, Jack Kearns. Walker's manager, could not be interested in counter propositions.

Chicago Continues Onslaught

No, Not Machine Guns; Cubs Big Noise Now.

NEW YORK, April 23.—As the second week of the National league season starts, the Chicago Cubs continue to live up to their 1929 reputation of being heavy hitters. In five games they have collected 56 hits, including 13 doubles and six home runs, for a team average of .318.

But it is the work of three of their pitchers—Percy Malone, Guy Bush and Sheriff Blake—that has made them favorites to win the pennant. Three, four and five hits a game is the lean menu they have been doling out to rival teams. McCarthy's twirlers have not been scored upon in their last 26 innings on the mound, St. Louis and Pittsburgh being the victims. In winning his second start of the season yesterday Malone held the Cards to five hits and gained a 3 to 0 decision over the veteran Grover Alexander, who had started the season with a winning five-hit performance.

Hornsby's home run, his second of this season, was enough to beat Alex yesterday.

George Uhle, who enjoys a good year every other season, is due to resume his place among the leaders this year. He pitched Detroit to a 1 to 0 victory over the St. Louis Browns yesterday for his second win of the campaign.

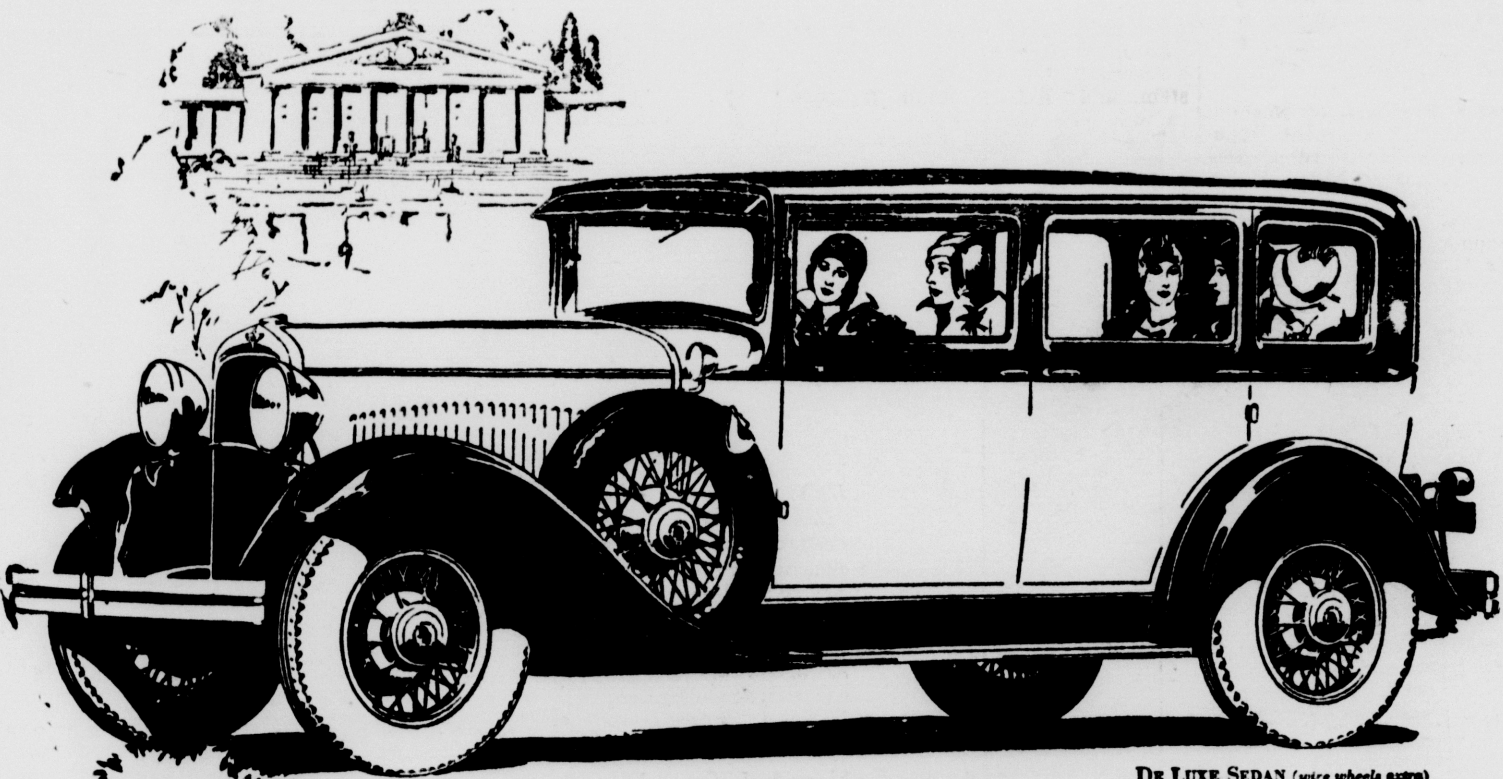

With Allen delivering four hits, Cincinnati came to life and bumped off the Pirates, 9 to 4. A six-run rally in the seventh turned the trick.

The hitless White Sox also did a form flip-flop and pounded four Cleveland pitchers for ten runs, while Alphonse Thomas blanked the Indians.

Rain again held all the eastern teams idle. The Giants, who were unable to play a single game of their series in Boston, were favored with fair weather for their opening at home against the Phillies today.

KID CHOCOLATE BEATS BURRONE

NEW YORK, April 13.—Kid Chocolate, flashy Cuban boxer, had strengthened his claims to the bantamweight title today by his easy victory over Vic Burrone of New York, in a ten-round bout here last night. The Kid won every round.

HE CAPTAINS PIONEER NINE

The Marietta College baseball nine opens its 1929 season against Fairmont Normal, Saturday, April 19th.

The graduation last spring of Egenberger, pitcher, and Dickman, catcher, leaves a gap in the team that has been a problem to Coach Hayes this year. It is likely that Joe Porter of Marietta will be given the pitching assignment for the opener with Harold "Red" Hadley behind the bat.

In every other department the team possesses greater or equal strength as compared with that of last year.

Ralph Farnham

Captain Ralph Farnham of Nashua, New Hampshire will be in his regular position in the left garden. His hitting and fielding were a feature last year.

Coach Hayes is counting heavily on two sophomores, Barrett, first sacker, and Sweeney, third baseman. The schedule for the 1929 season is as follows:

April 23—Ohio University, there.
April 27—Capital University, here.
May 4—Ohio University, here.

HOPE TO CAPTURE BRITISH TITLES

THE seamship Aquitania was a veritable "Sports Special" when it sailed for England a few days ago, carrying as passengers some of the world's most renowned champions.

Most prominent among these was Miss Helen Wills, who now holds the women's world tennis championship. Sailing with her was Miss Glenna Collett, the American queen of golf.

Among the male stars on the ship's list were Wild Bill Melhorn, Ryder cup champ, and Tommy Armour, former national open champion, both of whom will compete in the British open and other tournaments abroad.

Miss Wills is going to combine business with pleasure this trip. One of the exciting events scheduled is her presentation to the king and queen at Buckingham palace, together with her friend, Marjorie Walker. For the rest she will play a bit of tennis, as usual.

She will undoubtedly encounter some keen competition in the person of Betty Nuthall, the English lass. With a backhand stroke that is flawless, and more speed than Helen, she is, however, handicapped by a sloppy service. Glenna is very hot after the British Women's golf championship. Should she succeed in capturing it she will occupy the two-continent position which her friend, Helen Wills, now holds in the world of tennis.

Her battle, however, will be tougher than Helen's. An American woman has yet to grab the British golf title. And when she does, she will be able to boast that she has won a fight that was uphill all the way.

One of Glenna's most serious contenders will be Joyce Wethered, who has been out of the competitive running for a time, is back again and Joyce is said to have regained the form which won her the women's championship of England.

Prof. C. E. Palmer, superintendent of the East Palestine schools, was the speaker at the meeting of the Columbiana Rotary club Tuesday night. Isaiah Mowen, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the annual banquet and guest night, reported that the affair will be held at the Lutheran church May 6.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Walker entertained recently at their home here Mrs. Mary Stock, Greenford; Mrs. Isabella Sprowl and son, Rose Franklin and William H. Davis of Salem. The occasion was in celebration of the

Ohioan Gets Decision At Motor Square

Newton Given Nod Over Goldstein; Verdict Gets "Razz."

PITTSBURGH, April 23. — Ray Newton of Mansfield, O., today held a 10-round decision over Phil Goldstein, and Referee Eddie Kennedy came in for considerable razzing.

The two judges disagreed and Kennedy's vote gave the Ohio lad the nod.

Throughout, with the possible exception of the eighth round, the battle was uninteresting. Newton was supposed to be a slugger and Goldstein a boxer. Newton proved to be a counter puncher, and when Goldstein forced Newton to come to him, it wasn't much of a fight.

The same maulers two weeks ago put up a real battle, with Goldstein on the verge of being knocked out. But last night instead of pushing the fight, Goldstein played safe and with the exception of that eighth round when he chose to punch, Newton did just about nothing and lots of it.

Schmeling To Phone America

Berlin-New York Hook-ed up to Sign Ger-man Heavy.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Time and distance are being annihilated to facilitate the matchmaking for the great milk fund fistic carnal.

At six o'clock tonight Herr Max Schmeling will nonchalantly pick up a telephone in Berlin, call his number in German and Joe Jacobs will answer in English over a French phone at Madison Square Garden.

Jacobs, American manager of this German heavyweight, expected to persuade Schmeling to leave Berlin by the end of this week in tow of Professor William McCamey, who is in Berlin. Jacobs will advise Schmeling not to delay his departure for America, where a fortune awaits him for putting up his hands with Senor Paulino Uzcudun, at the Yankee stadium, on June 27.

The Trans-Atlantic Telephone service newly-installed in Berlin, was invoked yesterday for the first time in the closing of a boxing match.

Schmeling was asleep at the time. When he calls New York today he is expected to consent to start for New York immediately.

HIGH HAMMERS HIS FIFTH HOMER

COLUMBUS, O., April 23.—Charlie High, right-fielder of the Columbus Senators, is at it again. Yesterday, in the last game of the series with the St. Paul club, High knocked out his fifth homer of the official 1929 season, and was the main reason for his team's 4-to-1 victory over the Saints.

The Senators gained fame last week by accounting for five home-runs in four games, but two of these were clouted out in the two exhibition games with the Yankin team of the Cincinnati Reds, and did not count in the season's record.

Forbidden Door

Story of Adventurous Youth, Mystery, Fortune and a Girl.

By Herman Landon

Mallingham said nothing, but his face was grave. Though he had found the hall deserted, he seemed not quite satisfied. He took the flask away as Peters was about to help himself to another drink.

"One is enough," he said curtly. "By the way, I understand there is a young woman in the house under a doctor's care. Have you any idea who she is?"

"No, but I've been wondering about her." An uneasy look spread over the little man's misshapen features. "I've been told she came here last night."

"So I've heard. Why should a strange young woman come here? We must find out something about her. Mrs. Marten's maid is looking after her. Maybe she can—"

He stopped short. A knock sounded on the door. Mallingham opened it. The caretaker, with his gaunt and lugubrious face, stood in the hall.

"Excuse me," said John Breck. "You gentlemen seen anything of Mr. Curry?"

"No, but he is probably in bed." It was Mallingham who spoke. "Anyway, that's where he belongs. It is after midnight."

John shook his head with a worried air. "No sir, he isn't in bed. I've looked for him all over the house. It's kinda funny, I found this," exhibiting Mr. Curry's wooden cigar, "in the little hall off the library."

"You will probably find Mr. Curry, too, if you keep looking," said Mallingham calmly, and closed the door. "Now that's curious," he added, turning to Peters.

"What? That Curry isn't in bed?"

"No, that his wooden cigar should be found in the hall off the library. Curry and his wooden cigar are one and inseparable." His dark, regular features were tense with thought. "We know where that hall leads to, Peters."

"We do, Mally. And some day we are going to know more. Maybe tomorrow night—Heavens. I wish that gale would stop rocking the house! Don't think anything has happened to Curry, eh?"

Mallingham was looking thoughtfully down at the floor. "I wonder how he happened to drop that fool cigar in the hall off the library. Not that I care a fig what happens to Curry. It's only this. If anything has happened to him, it proves that there are more things going on in this house than we know anything about."

Peters shivered as another blast of wind hurried itself against the walls. "And it's a beautiful place for things to happen in, Mally. We couldn't have picked a better place. Long, winding corridors, all sorts of queer nooks, bats coming down the chimney. A house drenched in sinister atmosphere. I like that word 'sinister'—don't you, Mally?"

Mallingham silenced him with an irritable gesture. "Did I tell you," he asked presently, "that Breck, the caretaker, seemed to have something very important to communicate to Curry just after we arrived? I was watching them. Curry seemed greatly worried."

"Wonder what Breck told him?"

"I'd give a great deal to know."

"I should think a couple of dollars would make Breck talk."

"That's where you display your ignorance of human nature. Breck is a simple fool. Like all simple fools, he is incurably honest. I could tell that at a glance. No, Peters, we'll have to look elsewhere for our information. Maybe we can coax something out of the fair stranger in a day or two. There's something going on beneath the surface here. We must find out what it is."

Peters nodded and wrinkled his bulbous nose. "It's getting late," Mallingham observed. "Run along, Peters. I want to think."

Peters took himself off, but did not go to his room. His course was long and devious. He made frequent turns and confined his movements to the unused portions of the house. Looking back occasionally to make certain nobody was watching him he descended two flights of stairs, prowled along a dim hall and knocked three times on a door. The door came open guardedly.

"Hannan," whispered Peters softly.

An interruption.

Mallingham had not been quite candid with Horace Peters when he said he wanted to be alone and think. His expression after the other man had left him hinted strongly that the time for reflection was past and that the hour for action had struck. There was no trace of fret and anxiety in his cold gray eyes, but no sign of hesitation. He was all alertness and suspenseful watching. A new chapter in the hidden drama of Ernest Mallingham was about to unfold.

He remained seated for a time after Peters had left him, smoking one after another of the very thin and elongated cigarettes which were made especially for him. From time to time he glanced at his watch. Once he stepped to the door and looked out in the hall. Save for that noisy carnival of the tempest, everything was quiet. Since it was now well past midnight, it was probable that everybody had retired. There was only one person Mallingham was in doubt about, and that was John Breck, the caretaker. Possibly, however, he had found Curry by this time, or else he had abandoned the search. In either event Mallingham felt he had nothing to fear from such a simple-minded fellow.

Now he opened his traveling bag and, pressing a little spring at the bottom, brought a hidden recess into view. From this he took a small but very efficient pistol, examined the mechanism with an expert eye, and slipped it into his pocket. Next he put on a pair of gloves of a very thin and flexible material, then darkened his room and stepped out in the hall. Horace Peters occupied the third room from his own, and for a moment he stood at the door and listened. The heavy silence satisfied him that the little man was sleeping.

Making scarcely a sound, he went to the stairs and began to descend. Midway down he stopped and listened. The rain was coming down in a deluge, producing an incessant din and clamor on the roof. Though heavily constructed, the house shook and groaned in the gale. There were no sounds of movements about the building, however, and Mallingham continued on his way. He entered the library, illuminated only by a few dying embers in the fireplace, and stole softly toward the door in the rear.

In a moment he was inside the little hall, with the door closed behind him. He breathed somewhat more easily now. It would have been awkward if he should have met any one on his way down. He touched a switch and a light flashed up in the ceiling, illuminating the full length and width of the small corridor. The first thing that caught his eye was the clock over the iron door. He looked up at it with a faintly triumphant expression, as if it were a thing that no longer mystified him.

"Thirteen minutes to 3," he murmured. "I'm a little early."

He took another cigarette from his case. The clock continued to hold his gaze as he touched a match to the tip.

"This ought to make Old Winthrop turn over in his grave," was the thought that amused him while he waited.

"Ernest!"

He swung round sharply as the voice spoke. In his preoccupation he had not noticed that the hall door had opened. For that matter, it had opened with scarcely a sound, but the voice that had just spoken had been a startled one.

"You, Julia?" His voice was a little harsh, and the gaze he fixed on her was disapproving. "Why aren't you sleeping?"

"What are you doing here?" she countered.

A subterfuge was on Mallingham's lips, but he held it back. He had no patience with evasions. Now that she had found him there, he might as well face the issue.

"Wait and you will see," he calmly told her.

Her pale-blue eyes were full of alarm. The slight figure shivered within her Japanese dressing-gown. Her mouth—which Mallingham had always thought a trifle too pronounced for perfect symmetry—quivered a little at the corners.

"You—you aren't going to—open the iron door?"

"Why not?"

"You mustn't." Julia was a picture of agitated loveliness. "You know what will happen."

"I don't and neither do you."

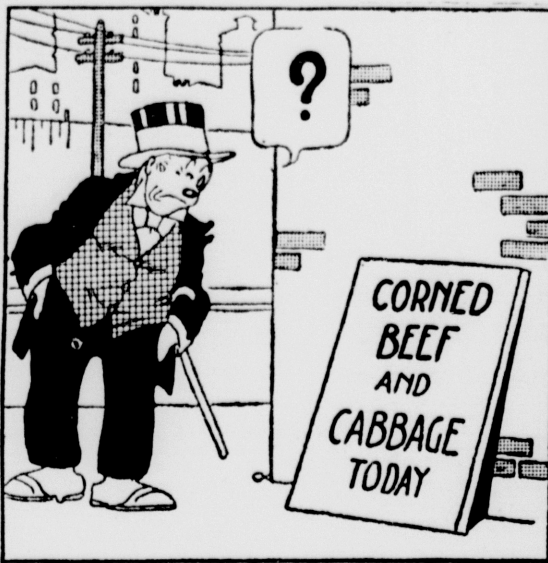

"No, but we have reason to think it will be something—something terrible. Ernest, I thought you promised—"

Lieut. Keefer and Five Others Die at San Diego.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., April 23.—(INS.)—Notes made by Miss Cecilia Kelly, one of the victims of the airplane crash over San Diego Sunday, today were held in a safety deposit box pending investigation of the tragedy.

One of the last things she jotted down on a piece of note paper was: "Army plane—stunting—near!" These notes, according to Maddox Air Line officials, will be used to show that Lieut. Howard W. Keefer was responsible for the mid-air smash-up which resulted in his death and the death of five others.

Miss Kelly was a feature writer for a Phoenix, Ariz., newspaper and was enroute to Phoenix when the Maddox plane in which she was riding was struck by the army pursuit plane piloted by Lieut. Keefer. She was formerly employed by the Denver Post.
